Some of Lincoln's friends are getting neasy about the general desire for peace Half a million more men and three billions of dollars is a fearful draft upon the country, when there is no security that this vast contribution will not be, like preceding ones, expended with no result. Another draft may follow, and at last some adjustment must be made to which the South will assent, otherwise no republican governments can be established there, and, indeed, no republican governments can exist in either section. Here people will ask why there is no prosecution of peace in the midst of a prosecution of war? The people can't help seeing that "To all whom it may tell from inference; but it is very clear that such a course as that is to be pursued, then there is no prospect that hostilities will cease for an indefinite period depending on the for-

Some of the quondam friends of Lincoln begin to urge an armistice and negotiation. They don't like the signs of the times. The people who furnish the money and blood want to know if there is not some prospect of an end, and why there is not. They feel that if this natural desire is not met, the party that stands in the way will have to suffer. In most cases the effort looks like a mere desire for a party advantage. They want some procan claim that the war is not their fault. But the demand from such quarters is something. It shows the drift of the current.

The Lincolnites are very inquisitive as to what their opponents propose to do; but they have a harder question to answer than their opponents. They have had over two millions of men, and they have spent three or four thousand millions of money. Why have they not fluished this business, if men and money will ever do it? They now want half a million more men and another billion of dollars; after that is exhausted, what do they propose to do? Why not now pause and ascertain if peace and Union cannot be had without further cost? Do they want another four years like the last, with no better result? They do not propose to do otherwise than they have been doing, and we need expect no other result. Some of the faithful see the situation, and want some shift to relieve themselves.

Mr. Thurlow Weed, in a letter to the Albany Evening Journal, thus defines his position in regard to the Presidential canvase:

"When this rebellion broke out I foresaw that it could not be overthrown by any party. It was formidable enough to demand the united efforts of all Union parties. Hence, from the beginning, I have preferred country to party. I apprised Mr. Lincoln, in Novem ber last, that the man who could go one step further and faster in ending rebellion and prefurther and faster in ending rebellion and pre-serving the Government and Union, than any other, would be my candidate for President,' Such is still my purpose. If Mr. Lincoln's opponent be, in the unpatriotic sense of the term, a 'peace man,' or of 'Copperhead' proclivities, I shall zealously and heartily support Mr. Lincoln. But if I can see a reasonable probability of electing a President who would propose the way for chiefs, declared to the prosecute the war for objects declared to the world in the resolution offered by Mr. Crit-tenden and adopted by Congress, I should give my voice and vote for such a capdidate. We believe this to be substantially the po-sition of the great body of the Union men throughout the country. A captious construction of the closing paragraph of the above extract might ascribe to it an implication that Mr. Lincoln does not prosecute the war for objects declared to the world in the resolution referred to; but we do not so un-perstand it. If Mr. Lincoln's plan is emphatically what the Crittenden resolution called conquest and subjugation. The seizure indiscriminately of all property within the reach of the army, whether useful to it or not, including libraries, pianos, and sewing machines, under the pretext of confiscation, or any other pretext, is what was called conquest formerly, or pername. Yet, Mr. Lincoln has signed a bill haps by a still meaner and more expressive

The organ of the President would do well to look over his acts and proclamations, and of all things not try to explain anything already so clear as the closing paragraph in Thurlow Weed's letter. It is like the Latin phrase,

These are the men who were to crowd the highways and byways in a general rush to the army! "We're coming, Father Abraham"-yes, in the shape of "the refuse of other States" and the drunken off scourings of European cities. "Oh, it is glorious to die for one's country"-by proxy! If we are wounded-by proxy of "refuse from other States," with what pride shall we show our honorable scars! The letter is addressed to John truth of which puts the Tribune into a terri A. The Popularity of an Armistice. The Republican and Lincoln journals er eginning to favor the plan of an armistice, to see if this quarrel with the South cannot be adjusted without further bloodshed. The popular disgust for the war, they admit, is intense. The Cleveland Leader, edited by the Postmaster of that city, says:

It is even rumored already that the Govern It is even rumored already that the Government has been thinking of sending Commissioners to Richmond in order to arrange the terms of an armistice. We know not what truth there may be in the report, but we do know that the probability of being out-maneuvered in this respect has occasioned some alarm among the Copperhead leaders who calculated on making their chief capital out of the supposed unwillingness of the Government to entertain the thoughts of an armistice.

An offer, such as it is rumored the Government may propose, would, if rejected at Richmond, effectually disarm the prace Copperheads in the North. If rejected, there would, in all probability, be a reaction of indignation among the people of the South. The European powers, in that event, would be likely to withdraw their sympathics from the likely to withdraw their sympathies from the rebels. Possibly another effect of an armilice would be to take away the appetite for war from the rebels and bring the fearfully outraged people of the South to a defiant and belligerent attitude toward the rebel authorities. What a pre-cious, calm, delicious rest, and heaven-like quiet, after all perturbations, anxieties, fears, and griefs. And, besides, this armistics once concluded, none would be so daring, so implious, on either side as to plunge the nation into war again by their impracticability or un-willingness to conciliate. Quiet Before Petersburg Inexplicable-The Situation Unchanged-Conjectures as to Grant's Schemes-The Season for Successful Operations Passing Away-The Federals Contracting their Lines on the Left and Right-A Canal Through Dutch Gap,

[From the Richmond Examiner, August 13.] Matters are growing comparatively quiet in front of Petersburg, the enemy having ceased his shelling of the city. A Petersburg paper

We learn from the best authority that the enemy has contracted his lines considerably on his left—our right—and has withdrawn his pickets some distance from the points recently occupied by them. The enemy is also seen in greatly diminished force on our right, which strongly indicates that he has withdrawn troops from that direction.

Every thing indicates that the great Yankee army, which but recently presented offensive operations so vigorously, are now throwing themselves on the defensive. This is evident rot only in the contractions of their lines, which they so recently and so boildly extended, but in the diminished numbers which they present to our front, and the at least partial cessation of active movements.

[From the Richmond Whig, August 13.]

It is rumored, with what truth we know not, that the Tankees are cutting a canal across the narrow neck of land formed by a bend in the James, and known as Dutch Gap. This is done, we presume, with the forlorn hope of lanking our position at Hewlett's. Let them dig; but they wit soon discover that ditching, like mining, and very well in the vicinity of Vickaburg, but neither can be successfully prosecuted anywhere in the neighborhood of the James. The gap is only about half a mile in width, while by water the distance round the bend is seven miles.

If the Tankees are really ditching at this point, as reported, they are enly doing what the commercial men of Richmond ought to have done long years ago. It was ever an im-DITCHING DUTCH GAP.

the continercial men of kichinda dogue to have done long years ago. It was ever an im-pediment in the way of our trade, and the bend, which is shut off from breezes from al-most every quarter, was always familiarly known by the sailors, who held it in special lread, as "Pull and be Damned." There may be some truth in the rumor; but we are nevertheless inclined to believed that re many weeks have passed Grant, instead before many weeks have passed Grant, instead of ditching on James beneath a blazing sur, will be making tracks before a victorious ar-my, in search of a safe shelter behind the for-tifications at Washington. THE SITUATION AT PRIERSBURG UNCHANGED. A gentleman by the ambulance train, yesterday afternoon, informs us that, while a chronic quiet prevails in the front, it is well ascertained that the Yankees are in heavy force, changing their base and seeking a more propitious field of operations than "the shampropitious field of operations in widdle. The Express of yesterday says:

The situation seems unchanged so far as can be learned from observations made in our lines. A brave scout, who returned from the enemy's rear at a late hour Wednesday night, says that there are undoubted evidences of the diminution of Grant's army near Peteraburg by the recent withdrawal of forces. The greater portion, if not all of these withdrawals, went down James river. It is supposed that they have been sent to the Upper Potomac; but of this there is no positive evidence.

PRINCE GEORGE COURTHOUSE BURNED. It is well known that the enemy have burned Prince George Courthouse. This was done from mere wantonness, as even Grant's land from mere wantonness, as even Grant's land pirates will scarcely have the hardihood to conend that any military necessity required the erformance of so villainous an cutrage. Let Early bear this is not an outrage. Let Early bear this in mind when he reaches the courthouse of some populous Pennsylvania county. Retaliation, without stint or mercy, is an infallible remedy for Yankee vandalism.

MORE OF GRANT'S PROMISES. Ulysses is trying to repress the impatience of the people of the North, to remove their doubts of his success, and to dispel their unreasonable anticipations, while modestly promising them that he will accomplish cer-tain results, which no one upon the face of earth horestly believes he is capable of effectearth honestly believes he is capable or effecting. Grant recently took sundry juleps with Gov. Ramsay, of Minnesots, and during their hobnobbing, he asked Ramsay to "request the people of the North to possess their souls with patience;" that all will come out right; that his success is beyond doubt; that his grand the bear carried out. plan has been carried out so far successfully and is certain to be successful in the end General Grant has never felt greater confience of success than he feels now; but it is s ous work that he has before him, and tions; they must not expect that to be month; for if they will have patience, they will in due time be fully repaid for the exerise of that virtue by the splendid success that will crown the efforts of the Army of the Po-tomac to overwhelm the chief army of the re-bellion. The destruction of Lee's army will be almost equal to the suppression of the re-bellion. The people, therefore, can afford to wait, if that achievement is likely to result from the present apparent inactivity—for it is

[From the Richmond Examiner, August 13th.] CONJECTURES AS TO GRANT'S INTENTIONS—HIS

PLANS FOR OPERATIONS IN THE VALLEY. Grant has sent away to the valley of Virginia a considerable portion of his Army of the Potomac, which has been operating on "this line all summer." It is not, however, yet possible to say positively whether he designs to abandon entirely his position before Petersburg. We do not think he will abandon it nutil the presence of every man he can muster is imperatively demanded elsewhere. In the meantime as much of his force as is left on the Appomattox will keep close in their pregnable earthworks, bang away pretty show of besieging that town.

It is very clear what are Grant's plans in the valley. He proposes to menace Early with a heavy force in front, while he sends down from Alexandria or Leesburg a heavy column, probably consisting of a corps just detached from the army at Petersburg, to run through one of the gaps in the Blue Ridge, turn our flank or strike us in the rear. This is a very pretty plan if it could be carried out.

From the present aspect of affairs we feel authorized to entertain the hope that the seat of war, will at no distant day be transferred. of war will, at no distant day, be transferred from our immediate neighborhood. Those who consider Grant committed to "fighting it out on the line all summer" do not bear in mind on its line at summer do not bear in mind that Grant, in making all this declaration, was discreet enough not to define what he meant by "this line." We and the world understood him to mean a straight line drawn from Germania ford to the city of Richmond; but he may now say he had reference to a line which might be drawn in counties given and over THE SHELLING OF PETERSBURG.

The enemy resumed the shelling of Petersburg yesterday morning. Heavy colums of kmcke in the direction of Grant's lines were visible from this city yesterday morning. Prince George Courthouse has been burned by the enemy. [From the Richmond Dispatch, August 9.1

WHAT THE TANKERS EXPECTED.

WHAT THE YANKERS EXPECTED.

It is related that when Ole Bull gave his first concert at Natchez, while his glory was yet in its first freshness, on the occasion of his first visit to America, an old planter living in the neighborhood was so carried away by his feel ings that nothing less would serve him than to teach a negro fiddler of his own to rival the great Norwegian. This he confidently believed he could do. So, upon returning home, he summoned "Old Rosin" to his presence, dilated in raptures upon what he had heard and seen, declared that he had the secret; that it all consisted in the handling of the bow, and that he could teach it effectually in a single lesson. "Now," said he, "take your fiddle and I will take the poker, and I will soonshow you how to work the wires." How he succeeded, history does not tell; but as we have beard of no ebony rival of Ole Bull in that ceeded, history does not tell; but as we have heard of no ebony rival of Olo Bull in that quarter, the interence is quite fair that he did not succeed at all.

The generation of Yankee correspondents remind us foreibly of this planter whenever a new scheme is on foot. No matter what it may be—whether Grant be trying te "outfank his own shadow," or to storm the Confederate batteries by a direct attack in front—whether he determine to "fight it out on this line, if it takes all summer," or to flank himself entirely out of this line, to the south side of James River—whether he be meditating a raid upon the Welden railroad, or a grand blow-up of the Confederate earthworks, these enterprising gentry naver fall to penetrate the mystery. And they always, in advance, attribute to it the greatest possible degree of success. They know it must succeed, and they know why it must succeed. "It all lies in the bow," and they have found out how the bow is to be handled. They cannot tell—no, no, the secret is so awful that it will Matters are growing comparatively quiet in front of Petersburg, the enemy having ceased his shelling of the city. A Peteraburg paper says of the situation:

"A quiet reigns along the lines. In fact, if we may so express ourselves, yesterday was the quietest of the slege, and passed away unmarked even by the usual shelling, mortar and picket firing.

"The enemy has shown himself to be very kindly disposed toward the city during the past ten days. If we may except a few stray shots, he has not thrown any shells in the cerporate limits since last Monday week. This quiet is, of course, inexplicable, and for all we know the enemy may be secretly conceiting some diabolical scheme, in the shape of another 'brilliant movement,' for our benefit. Grant certainly is not idle. It would be disastrous to him to remain so. The season for successful operations is rapidly slipping away, and if he loses the opportunity he himself is loct."

THE FEDERALS CONTRACTING THEIR LINES.

We learn from the best authority that the enemy has contracted his lines considerably on his left—our right—and has withdrawn his sentence: "Every conceivable precautionary measure was taken to insure success—no project ever promised more favorable results—and officers are alike surprised and mortified at our failure to carry the enemy's entire lines and possess ourselves of Petarsburg."

There it is. There spoke the whole Yankee nation at opec. Disaster after disaster, rout after rout, slaughter after slaughter, have pursued this Army of the Potomac in one series of eventualities, nabroken, save by the draws battles of Sharpsburg and Gettysburg, from the first drawn blood at Manassas, in July, 1861, to the last explosion of Beauregard's mine on Saturday last—yet they are always amusing themselves and the Yankee public with some new device that is to insure victory at the next trial. Unless it be the Chinese, no population ever existed so entirely childlike in its credulity where its own success is involved. So perfectly so entirely childred in its credulity waters its own success is involved. So perfectly have their Fourth of July erators convinced them that they are the mightiest nation on the earth, that they will believe any thing which flatters their national vanity. The alightest glimmer of success, in the smallest enterprise, is sufficient to console them and to rekindle the war-spirit in the midst of the most over-whelvaing and most them and to rekindle the war-spirit in the midst of the most overwhelming and most dispiriting disasters. The capture of the Alabama caused them to forget Grant's 150,000 men slaughtered to capture Richmond, and the capture of a few ships at Mobile will entirely obliterate all lingering recollection of their heavy failures in all quarters during this campaign. Their press—the greatest curse ever entailed upon a nation, as it there exists—encourages all this by its mossirous false-hoods with regard to events which have already occurred, and its extravant predictions with regard to the future. They can never know the truth, for the war is, to the Yankee press, the goose that lays the golden egg, and press, the goose that lays the golden egg, and they are too sagacious in money matters to rip

A Mouse on THE WIRE .- A very little matter will gather a street crowd. tops to look, another stops to look at him. To those twain others are added apace, intil, from small beginnings, a street has een blockaded. But think of Clark street eing blockaded by a mouse. This is how t happened: On Saturday afternoon a nouse made his way out of the telegraph building over one of the wires, and soon had a street crowd of two hundred gazing up at him, as, a la Blondin, he crept along his slender footway. He did it in brave style, steadily passing post after post, carrying a full consciousness of danger, and resting every few yards to recover from fatigue, and resist a tendency to topple over.

On such occasions it was curious to notice how instinct taught it all the arts of the human wire-walker, for its tail did duty as a balancing staff, and flew from side to side with lightning rapidity, to maintain equipoise. The whole distance traveled by the little animal and returned, was some six hundred feet, which brought it back to its starting point. The feat was accomplished in spite of the tendency of small boys to interrupt the performance with stray mis-siles, and amid a fusilade of puns that rained from every side out of the de-lighted crowd. Thus it was suggested that some body must be mousing for contraband war news; that this might be the way in which newspaper dispatches got "mussed;" that there was a "muss" being telegraphed West. But even he puns failed to throw the small rodent off its balance, and it returned to the building, whisked its tail saucily through the fingers of an attendant telegrapher, who thought to Barnumize the artist, and the crowd dispersed with a yell of delight that would have repaid Blondin himself, though like this item, it was all about a mouse.

Among specimens that have been exhibited, are pieces of tile, gypsum and seapstone, coated with the zopissa composition. Articles of wood and iron which had been exposed for over a year to the influences of the London atmoshere and to sea water, were found not to have been affected by either rust or decay. A cheap and artistic imitation of leather has been made out of cotton tissue, impregnated with the zopissa, and well dyed, im itating the various colors and shades of water-proof animal leather.

GRAFTING ANIMALS .- The Intellectual Observer says: "Dr. Paul Bert has published a work on the curious subject of animal grafts. He succeeded in making Siamese twins of a couple of rats, and in many other monstrosities. He exclaims, it is a surprising spectacle to see a paw cut from one rat, live, grow, finish its ossification, and regenerate its nerves, under the skin of another, and when we plant a plume of feathers under the skin of what a miracle to see the interrupted vital phenomena resume their course, and the fragment of a bird receive nourishment from the blood of a mammal.'

To Improve Sandy Soils.

There is a very erroneous but strong impression on some minds that light, loose sands are valueless for purposes of cultivation. In their natural state, it is true, they are not very productive. A few crops of rye or buckwheat reduces their fertility, and so much manure is thenceforth requisite to reinvigorate and keep them in heart that they are either turned out to pasture or abandoned in despair. I have had some experience in the cultivation of this species of soil, and my success has induced me to attach to them a much higher degree of importance than is usually accorded. And I am fully persuaded that even the lightest and most sterile sands may, by proper management, and without any ruinous outlay of expense, either in time or capital, be made highly and permanently productive; in short, that our poorest plains land can be redeemed from this unjust imputation of utter worthlessness, and made to yield, not only remunerative crops, but crops equaling in abundance and richness those afforded by the most affluent soils upon which labor has ever been bestowed.

In the first place, in order to the successful amelioration of sandy soils, it will be necessary completely and thoroughly to cleanse them from stumps. After this is effected, let them be plowed deeply, with a strong team, in the last of the summer, turning in all the wild growth upon them to the depth of at least one foot; then har-row thoroughly and roll with as heavy a roller as you can procure. The next thing is to give the surface a good dressing of clay. This earth will generally be found in the near vicinity of the field to be clayed, either in some neighboring run or watercourse, or beneath the sand, for sand and clay are never far apart. The finer it is, and the more greasy, the more durable will be its action; and the more liberally it is applied, the more thorough will be the improvement consequent upon its application.

The best time for applying it is immediately after plowing, and to secure its being refined and broken up, it should be deposit-ed in heaps, and spread evenly over the surface, to remain exposed during the win-ter to the action of the frost. In the spring plow again not so deeply as before, in order not to disturb the sward, harrow and again roll. You can now sow on rye, or plant, and the crop will come off in season to allow you an opportunity to give another dressing of clay, which in quantity should be equal to the first—say forty cords to the acre-and spread as before. This will entirely change the texture of the soil, and you will no longer have the barrenness of sand to contend with, but a soil indued with all the requisites of permanent and vigorous fertility, and on which manure will act with as much celerity and energy as upon the richest loams. It may be thought that the quantity of clay recom-mended (eighty cords to the acre) is large; but when we reflect that some cultivators bestow this amount of stable manure, and bear in mind the very important fact that while manure is an article for which money has to be paid, the whole cost of clay is embraced in the carting, the objection arising from the quantity requisite to insure a complete and thorough improvement being arge will at once cease to retain its force. If the farmer cannot afford this, he can apply a less quantity at first, and add to it year by year; but in this case he must be contented with a much less lucrative return for his annual labors, as a very large percentage of clay is called for, in thoroughly to improve the soil and over-come the many and serious imperfections of sand as it naturally exists. Therefore it is much better and more in accordance with the policy of enlighted economy, to give enough at first to effect that object desired, and enter at once into the profits of the business, than to occupy years with only a limited annual return. One great reason-and indeed I regard it as the principal one—why manure never acts vigorously on light sands is, that the extreme perosity which chracterizes it causes the dung to keep dry, and consequently to remain inert. A lump of dry nanure is no better in the ground than a chip or a stone, and will produce just the same effect upon the crop.

The clay gives cohesiveness to the par-ticles, unites them by a sort of glutinous attachment and consolidation, and while it favors the absorption and retention of moisture, insures the fermentation and ulimate decomposition of the dung. In a few years the soil will assume a fine dark appearance, resembling that of garden mould, and the various grasses will find in it a bed capable of affording expansion to their roots, and supply a moisture and soluble food commensuratle with their wants.

To every person, therefore, who is the ossessor of sandy soil, I would say, clay it at once. No soil is so easily worked, and from no soil, when managed in this way, will labor secure to itself a more certain and rich reward.—[Cor. Ger. Telegraph.

FALSE TAILS TO HORSES .- It often happens that two carriage horses may be perfect matches in all respects but their tails. The one may have a fine flowing caudal appendage, and the other may be curtailed of his fair proportions. In such a case the fashion with horses is pretty much as it is with our fashionable fair at the present moment; if nature is not prodigal of this ornament, art is called in; the lady purchases her Alexandria ringlet, which so negligently flows over her shoulder, at Trufit's; the groom matches the flowing mane with an equally flowing tail. The false tail is cunningly placed on in the following The caudal stump is shaved, and the false hair is fitted on to it by the crupper, and detection is as impossible with respect to hair-dressing of the horse, as we all know it is with that of the ladies. There is scarcely a first-class stable in London, where many carriagehorses are kept, that these false tails are not an absolute necessity of their getting up, and they may be seen hanging on the walls as a matter of course, and are looked upon, in short, as only a part of the harness .- [London Review.

WHITE FLAX.-Inclosed I send you a sample of "White" or "Sapling" flax seed. I sowed it this year on the same ground and at the same time with the common variety, yet the Sapling is fully a foot the longest, while the straw is as fine and the lint apparently as good as the other. Is it raised in your State? If so, what is thought of it? I am satisfied that it is a decided improvement on the old kind, and that when known it will be popular. PERRYVILLE, KY., July 24, 1864.

ARREST OF A BOGUS DETECTIVE .- For some time our citizens have been much annoyed by persons going around and representing themselves as detectives and taking from them pistols, &c., besides carrying on a species of black mail. Yesterday Wm. W. Brockman, who stated that he was a secret detective under Major Fitch, was arrested and taken before Provost Marshal Captain Dunn for acting detective and procuring from Mr. Fields ewo dollars. Brockman went to the stable of Mr. Fields and arrested one of his negro men. He afterwards went to Mr. Fields and told him that if he would pay him he would get a permit for him to keep the negro. The permit was applied for by the would-be detective, but not obtained, when he asked Mr. Fields for two dollars, saving that he would call for more moeny when the permit was obtained. After this Brockman arrested a man as a deserter. although he had in his possession papers to show that such was not the case. Brockman were noticed, but they made no demonstrrawas made to refund to Mr. Fields the two dol. | tion sgainst the train. The band that made confined until further orders. The Provost Marshal is determined to break up this style of swindling, and all persons who represent themselves as detectives without authority will be arrested and severely punished.

BARRACKS ITBMS.—Yesterday was a very lively day at the barracks for Sundsy. The receipts were two hundred and twenty-one men from various points, en route for the front, four deserters, and four political prisoners from Covington, three deserters from Lexington, and one from Eminence. The transfers were three hundred and twenty-six convalescents and recruits to different points, and twentyfive deserters sent off in irons, as follows seventeen to Nashville, four to Lexington, two to Cincinnati, one to Cairo and one to Colum-

IMPORTANT ARREST .- Our city has been infested with certain parties who have been in the habit of stealing negroes from this State, tak- fession, adds an artistic taste in the disposition ing them to the other side of the river and of drives and walks to suit the topograpy of selling them as substitutes. We understand the ground, and at the same time combines a that George Robinson, alias Lord Isaacs, was arrested and sent to the miliary prison, to dispose deciduous and evergreen shrubs to charged with being one of the parties who had been engaged in that business. The case will be thoroughly investigated. There are other persons engaged in this business who will no doubt be brought to justice.

THE RACE To-DAY .- The match race over Woodlawn to-day promises to be very exciting. As the horses are well matchedand the track in excellent order, the race will be well contested. and fast time is expected. The race, which is mile heats, is the second match between Betty and Belle Chaflin, the former winning the first match. The race comes off at half-past two o'clock and the train will leave the depot at half past one o'clock. There will no doubt be a large attendance.

ISAAC P. MILLER is a candidate for the office Senator, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death Hon, Gibson Mallery. au2l d&Ste*

To the Voters of the Thirty-seventh

In response to the wishes of many friends, I have sonsented to become a candidate for Senator, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the late Hon. Gibson Mallory. It will be impossible for me to enter into any canvas beyond this b-re announcement.

My platform is simple. I am a true Union man—that is, I am neither an abolitionist nor a secessionist. The non-I would fight with my votes, the other with my sword. If elected I pledge myself to watch and quare with jealous care every interest committed to my keeping (anily dte)

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, } August 20-6 A. M. Yesterday was the most quiet day we have had in front of Petersburg for a mouth, scarce y a shot being heard the entire day. On the Weldon railroad, where Warren's corps kirmishing with occasional discharges of ar-llery occurred, but nothing resembling an ngagement took place in the afternoon. The nemy moved a force from near Petersbooward cur left, and made an attempt to fo ur line near the Jerusalem road, but finding he road was not so easy as they asticipated hey abandoned it. They took a few prison-ers, however, before they fell back. The number of casualities in the Fifth corps was about 450. About midnight some battery in front of the Eighteenth corps opened, and also on the left a sharp engagement was kept up for several hours, with no result so far as could be ascertained. Nobody injured at this hour. Not a gun can be heard. The roads are becoming bad in consequence of the rain which has fallen during the present week, and INDIANAPOLIS, August 21. Some days ago Governor Morton received a letter from the East, stating that a large a letter from the East, stating that a large quantity of arms is being shipped to disloyal parties in Indian. On the 17th inst four box es were received, addressed to J. J. Parsons, firm of H. H. Dodd & Co., printers of this city. Last night twenty-two boxes, same address, were received and drayed to Dodd's office. The military authorities immediately phaced a gange account the huilding and took office. The ministry authorities immediately placed a guard around the building and took possession of the boxes. Upon eximitation it was found to contain revolvers of the best quality and fixed ammunitien. J. Parsons and Chas. P. Hutchine, Dodd's partners, and Wan. FORTRESS MONROR, August 20. From City Point we have intelligence that rhe Fifth army corps had a severe fight with the enemy yesterday on the Weldon railroad, but succeeded in routing the rebels, and fin-ally advanced and occupied a position on the line of the Petersburg and Weldon railroad,

The canal is progressing favorably.

LATER - 4:30 P. M - The steamer John
Brooks, from City Point, has arrived, and confirms the successes of the movements on the Weldon railroad.

The Fifth army cops still hold their postion. Our position on the north side of James river is not changed, but the Third corps are making an important move.

When women Clizens of Wincaester Fire on our are free to dress as they like, uncontrolled by others, and not limited by their circumstances, they do not fail to express their true characters, and dress becomes a form of expression very genuine and useful.

[Meredith. Going Ur .- Grain, like everything else, has gone up. Horseflesh, in proportion as feed rises, goes down, and grows despondent. Owners of horses share the same fate. Five cents in paper currency is still the charge on horse-cars, a tariff which, if vigorously examined, amounts to but a cent and a half. Stage and car proprietors are losing money; and horses, if grain continues to increase in price, will soon lose their stimulating diet. They will become drugs in the market. Everything is going up-horses, gold and the Republic

lowing: The good pastor of a certain church no thousand miles from this place, a few Sabbaths ago, when about to baptize a child, reproved the flock in the following fashion: "My dear people, I fear that you are neglecting parental duties, as this is only the second child presented for baptism during my pastoral connection with this church." (Sensation among the crinoline.)

The Emperor is still at Vichy, making himself popular by his affability towards the "lower classes." He gave a fete, lasting two days, to the Voltiguers of the Guard, during which he danced a quadrille with a young peasant girl, his vis-a-vis being a dashing sergeant of Voltiguers. I presume the poor girl was so confused by the compliment that she forgot all her best steps; though it is difficult to scare a French woman out of her self-possession. [Paris Letter.

They have a queer monarch in Inlis, whom the Bombay press just now are giving "particular fits." He is called the Grekwar (President) of Baroda. It seems that His Highness recently spent £500 in celebrating the marriage of a pair of his favorite pigeons, and he is now about to throw away still larger sums on the marriage of some dogs that have just arrived from England.

IN A HURRY.—We are informed by an offi-cer of Farragut's fleet that the action had hardly ceased before boats loaded with vege-tables and fruits, which the owners were auxious to sell, came off to the vessels. They would not receive Confederate money, but clutched greenbacks and postage currency eagerly. An officer offered one of them a silver quarter for a large mellos; the poor fellow fell overboard in his frantic efforts to grasp the desired coin.—[N. O. True Delta. The river at this point was swelling quite fast esterday, with three and a half feet water in the anal by the mark, and over eighteen inches in the indian pass on the falls. During the forty-eight ours, ending at dusk last evening, the river at the head of the falls had swollen over seven inches, which is equal to a rise of nearly two feet at Portand. The weather has been cloudy, with indica ions of rain, though but little fell.

At Pittsburg Saturday the river was swelling, with six feet six inches water in the channel by the pier mark. At Cincinnati the river was swelling quite fast Saturday, with over five feet water in the channel hence to this place.

The late rains have been general all along the ine of the river, and all the tributaries entering nto the Ohio river are swelling quite fast. The late rise will greatly help navigation in the Lower Ohio, but we do not at present look for a big river. The Cumberland river is swelling quite fast with six feet water on Harpeth Shoals yesterday. The steamer Lady was captured by guerrillas car Napoleon last week and completely stripped of everything valuable upon her. The loss to the cont was very heavy. The rebels are understood to occupy Martinsburg in small force.

It is not proper to speak definitely of our position, but there is good reason to hope that Sheridan will prove more than a match for rebel strategy in that section.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE PILOTS' CONVENTION.—
The Convention adjourned at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, to meet in Louisville on the second Monday of August, 1865. The question of Gen. Grant's order was not discussed, the military authorities here having notified several of the members that any combination against the order would be followed by their arrest.

The principal changes made in the resolutions of former Conventions were as follows:
Mombers are allowed to apply to steamboat captains and owners for positions.

Members are allowed to serve with pilots on coal boats.

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, Aug. 20-8:10 P. M. To General Diz:

The operations of Gen. Grant's forces are etailed in the following official dispatches received to-day:

CITY POINT, Aug. 18-8 P. M. Gen. Warren moved with his corps this morning to and across the Weldon road, about one mile south of headworks. He met nothing but the enemy's pickets. He advanced ong but the enemy process. The watered forward, and, meeting the enemy, he had considerable fighting duridg the day, suffering some less and inflicting loss on the enemy. I have no report showing the extent of our loss, but judge it light from dispatches. Some of the enemy's wounded fell into our hands, with a few other prisoners.

CITY POINT, August 19-7:50 P. M. Our troops are firmly across the Weldon Road; there has been little or no fighting to-day, either south of Petersburg or north of Warren repots that the enemy's dead, in

D. B. BIRNEY, Msj. Gen." "[Sigded] We have a great deal of rain about Peters-burg this week, and a very grateful change in he temperature, New York, August 20.

The Commercial has the following: "WASHINGTON, August 20. "Thorough inspection of the fortifications of Washington was made yesterday, and they proved entirely satisfactory. If the enemy should come down from the Valley against us, he would find the city in a more effective state of defense than ever before.

"The reports that the Republican leaders have made an impression upon the President tion, are unfounded. When the President will not even change his Cabinet with the view to improve his chances for election, it is idle to suppose he would adopt a bold pead measure."

The Post says Mr. Fsssenden intends to return to Washington this evening."

The terms of the new loan are not yet de-ided. It is reported that the bonds will be 5-20's, which are extremely scarce. No bonds are at present in more request in forcing the market, and they by our own citizens. The demand for new 730's is not expected to be diminished by the issue of these gold-bearing bonds, as the latter will be absorbed by a different class of investors from those who subscribe for the former. Moreover, the debt certificates whose low price has checked the certificates, whose low price has checked the demand for 7 30's, will now probably rise in value, as it is proposed to accept 20 per cent, of the payments for the new bonds in these DENVAR CITY, August 20. The following from Geo. W. Lane, Superindent Branch Mint, to Senator Lane, expresses the general feeling here: The telegram purporting to be from the Indian Bureau, Washington, is an outrage on the memory of unarmed men, unoffending women and children, who have been killed and scalped by these treacherous devils.

Every band of Indians of any size on the plains, united for the purpose of exterminating and driving the white men from these mountain plains.

The only wrongs I know of are that these natural enemies to progress and improve-ment have been fed, strengthened and fur-nished arms, under a mistaken policy, to bet-ter accomplish this hellish massacre.

Those who sympathize with the Indians had better cut their hair off before crossing the Missouri river. GEO, W. LANE,

The little brig Vision, bound from New York to London, was spoken on July 20, in latitude 710; longitude 33, west, and ampplied with provisions and water, when she continued on her voyage.

The Danish and German question continued to excite considerable discussion.

New York, August 20. The Times has a long letter from Brlg. Gen. Seymour, lately a prisoner at the South, upon the present aspect of affairs, based upon his former knowledge of that section and his reformer knowledge of that section and his recent observations. He states that the rebel cause is fast failing from exhaustion, and all we need is men to give a crushing preponderance to our arms. Tens of thousands of live have been lost because our array of strength is so disproportionately less than that against which we battle; and everywhere we meet on nearly equal terms, where we might well have four to one. The loss to us in blood and treasure can hardly be forseen. The economy is infinite of such an effect, as the glorions North should put forth. The South will fight as long as the struggle is equal; it will submit to such preponderance as we should submit to such preponderance as we should show in the field.

The new movement on the north side of the James river is progressing favorable, and gratifying results are confidently anticipated. Reports from Shenandoah Valley intimate that Sheridan is watching the movements of the rebels. He is well prepared to meet them CAIRO, August 20.

The Memphis Bulletin says boats from below are obliged to pass Gaines' Landing by niffnt with all lights out. The rebel battery there at last accounts was under command of Captain Pratt, with four 10-pounders; 2 12pounders, supported by Cylton Green's brigade of Marmaduke's diuision.

Generel Walker in command of Dick Taylor's forces, is reported menacing Mangangas.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. The price at which stamped envelopes are furnished the Postoffice Department under the recent contract being largely in excess of those heretotore made, the Department has issued a circular to the various offices, aunouncing a corresponding advance of the rate at which they are to be furnished to the pub-lic. The increase in the price of letter size is about 17 per cent.

Our physician thought nothing but extipation could afford relief, but he advised the trial of your Sarsaparilla as the last resort before cutting, and is proved effectual. After taking your remedy eight weeks no symptom of the dusease remains."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease. DR. J. C. ATER—Sir. I cheerfully comply with the request of your agent, and report to you gome of the effects I have realized with your Sarsaparilla.

I have cured with it, in my practice, most of the conjoints for which it is recommended, and have found its effects truly wonderful in the cure of Fonercal and Marcurvist Disease. One of my patients that shad Syphillitic ulcers in his throat, which were consuming his palate and the top of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla, steadily taken, cured him in five weeks. Another was attacked by secondary symptoms in his nose, and the ulceration had enten sway a considerable part of it, so that I believe the disorder would soon reach his brain and killihm. But it yielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla; the ulcers heated, and he is well again, not of course without some disfiguration to his facs. A won, an who had been treated for the same disorder by mercury was suffering from this poison in her bones. They had become so sensitive to the weather that on a damp day ahe suffered excruciating pain in her joints and bones. She, too, was cured entirely by your Sarsaparilla in a few weeks. I know from its formula, which your agent gave me, that this Freparation from your laboratory must be a great remedy; consequently, these truly remarkable results with it have not surprised me.
